Novari Health Pty Ltd focuses exclusively on “access to care” or how patients enter and move through a health care system. Using air traffic control-like functionality, the Novari Access to Care software platform includes a series of integrated modules. It is the only system available that is capable of electronically managing the complete continuum of care from primary care (wait 0) to specialist care (wait 1), hospital-based care (wait 2) and onto post-acute care (wait 3) services. The Novari eRequest module uses state of the art technology and the power of the cloud to allow for real-time electronic management and routing of any type of referral, request or requisition for any type of healthcare service. The software can be configured for such pathways/referral types as; diagnostic imaging, mental health, addictions, diabetes, ambulatory clinics, specialists, orthopedic hip & knee, cataracts, palliative care, long-term care, community care, etc. The Novari ATC module improves surgical theatre utilization, enables better surgical wait list management and the paperless eBooking / electronic request for admission (eRFA) of cases from the physician rooms to the hospital scheduling offices. It complements and integrates with each hospitals’ surgical information system (i.e. Cerner, etc.) in real time. The Novari eVisit module allows patients virtual access to their primary care physician and/or other providers in the region. From both mobile and desktop devices, when clinically appropriate, the system uses secure messaging, voice and video conferencing to improve access to primary care. The Novari Primary Care Management module gives regional health authorities a software tool designed to provide a detailed and real-time database of the primary care physicians within a region and a means to help manage these relationships. Using this module, regional health authorities can understand the number and distribution of primary care physicians along with other physician-specific profile information. Novari ATC, Novari Access to Care, Novari eRequests, Novari Health, Novari Primary Care Management and Novari eVisit are trademarks of Novari Health Inc.
