Telstra Health provides technology solutions that connect healthcare providers with patients and each other and help improve the quality, efficiency and security of health services in Australia. We provide software applications, open platforms and data security services to the pharmacy, hospital, primary, diagnostic, Indigenous health and aged, disability and community care sectors in Australia, as well as Government and insurance companies. Driving this strategy is our fundamental belief that technology will play a key role in supporting healthcare organisations to improve frontline clinical service delivery and administration and enhance interactions between patients and providers. We aim to be the technology provider of choice for the Australian healthcare sector empowering provider and payers to find better ways to serve patients in a connected world.
