Cerner is a leading global supplier of healthcare information technology solutions, partnering with a range of health services across the globe. Over the past 25 years across the Asia Pacific region we have delivered ground breaking local programs and initiatives built on our proven track record of innovation. Our focus is on realising improvement in clinical outcomes. We accomplish this by facilitating clinical transformation with our health services whilst delivering capability to manage the overall health status of the population. At Cerner, our vision for population health management is focused on creating a community that empowers the health and care of an individual. Our personalised, comprehensive suite of solutions and services enables organisations to know and predict what will happen within a population, engage members, families and care providers to take action, and to manage outcomes to improve healthcare.
